The authors assign reproduction, distribution and public diffusion rights to the JCS&T in freely and non-exclusive manner. The license model is Creative Commons CC BY-NC-SA.

The JCS&T guarantees paper publication with explicit mention to their names and affiliation data, both online and printed editions.

The authors must guarantee that their paper is original and that it has not been submitted or published elsewhere, except for invited papers by the editors and the editorial board. Besides, authors must guarantee that their paper complies with the Publication Ethics and Malpractice Statement of this journal.

In the case of several authors, this agreement must be signed by all of them. One single author can sign in the name of the others, making him/her responsible for informing the corresponding terms to the rest.
